Product Update

Norpass3 - More Great Features Available

Nortech's access control management software, Norpass3, has seen even more features added to its already impressive portfolio, ensuring that Norpass3 continues to provide unrivalled versatility.

One new feature is the 'Door Event Trigger' which allows for an output to be triggered from a controller when any door on-site has been forced, left-open or tampered. This feature can be used to raise a remote alarm with specific details of the incident using communications methods such as text messaging and email alerts, to support 24 hour monitoring.

Another impressive feature is the 'door latch' card setting, which enables cards to be used for latching and unlatching doors in and out of the 'unlocked' state. Norpass3 has also doubled its capacity, now being able to manage up to 64 controllers (up to 128 doors), and it can still be installed in next to no time using our powerful Installation Wizard.

Case Study

Harbour Master at the Helm

Exmouth Marina, in the beautiful county of Devon, has recently undergone a complete access control revamp and is now operated and managed through Nortech's access control software, Norpass3.

From his office the harbour master has total control of access privileges and is able to monitor the marina's pontoons, public amenities and parking facilities.

Temporary visitors are issued with a short-term pin code for access, whilst marina members are issued with proximity key fobs that allow them permanent access to their appropriate areas.

'The new access system has greatly improved the way we monitor and implement the security within the marina. Having the ability to control access to and from each gate means that we now know who is using the facility. Also, having all the controls run back to the main office ensures that administrating the system is easy.'
